

We focus on the solar PV value chain

Weber Energy Group provides market entry and business development services for companies looking to enter the solar markets in North America, Europe, and Asia. Because we have a singular focus on solar, we can locate the most rewarding opportunities for your company.

A single source for solar market entry

Not only will we identify and connect you with prospective clients, partners and investors, we'll also guide you through government incentive programs. And, we'll establish local offices, performing business administration duties on an ongoing basis, and develop your executive team.

All the resources you need

We contract with a global network of service providers to ensure your successful market entry. As needed, we bring on Legal, Tax, Finance, M&A, Real Estate, Insurance, Marketing/PR, HR and technical advisors.

Complete business development services

We act as your ongoing independent sales representative, developing and executing targeted lead generation programs and helping you close the deal. We'll connect you to the diverse solar industry stakeholders, with a focus on the solar PV value chain including:

- Manufacturers of crystalline and thin-film PV and CPV products
- Manufacturing equipment and material suppliers
- Project developers, independent solar power producers, distributors/wholesalers and installers
- Balance of system (BOS) providers
- Utilities
- VC's, Private Equity firms and other investors.
